PDF Password Protection

This demo illustrates the capability to protect a document with a password.

To protect a document with a password, do the following:

- Specify the owner's password (gives full, unrestricted access to a document), and if required, the user's password (an additional setting that is used to protect the opening of a document) using the respective input fields on the right panel.
- Choose the encryption algorithm.
- Specify the required user permissions.
- Click the Protect and Save… button to save the document with the specified protection settings.
